

PARIS STUDY ABROAD

Discover the Paris of American expatriate writers Fitzgerald, Hemingway, and Gertrude Stein—the Paris that nourished their talents. Study French artists in the museums of Paris and French writers and musicians of the Romantic, Impressionist, and Modern periods. Learn about the traditions of French education and ways of thinking from the time of the Sun King through the present day.

Through Loyola's Summer Abroad in Paris, you will explore a wonderful city steeped in culture and discover many of its treasures from the Middle Ages to the present.

Loyola University New Orleans Summer Abroad in Paris is open to all students in good standing at Loyola or at their home university. Students study two of the following courses: Americans in Paris, Educating France, French Art & Culture, or Travel Writing.

The program takes place at FIAP Jean Monnet in the 14th arrondissement. Students share double rooms with a private bath, and accommodations include two meals per day. FIAP is an international hostel with dorms, classrooms, a bar, restaurants, laundry and recreation rooms. It is located near the Luxembourg Gardens and convenient to several Metro stops. Classroom instruction is enriched with daily trips to museums and other places of interest around Paris. Day trips are included in the tuition, optional excursions are planned for those who are interested, and students have a free weekend to travel on their own.

The program is co-directed by Dr. Brad Petitfils and Dr. Alice Kornovich. Dr. Mary McCay serves as the Director Emerita.

ACADEMIC POLICIES

Loyola's general academic policies apply to study abroad programs. Students must attend all classes and trips in order to fulfill the requirements for the courses. All classes have finals that are traditionally marked. Students must check with their academic departments to determine that the credits and/or grades will be accepted toward graduation requirements at their institution. Any student currently enrolled and in good standing at an accredited institution may register for the Paris program.

MEDICAL CONCERNS

The Center for International Education (CIE) will be happy to discuss health care concerns related to study abroad. Because of the mental and physical challenges that integration into a new culture and learning environment place on an individual, if you are currently receiving treatment for any chronic illness it is strongly recommended that you talk with CIE or your doctor about plans to manage your health condition abroad.

This program includes activities that may involve using public transportation, negotiating stairs, taking long walks, and attending scheduled classes. If you have any concerns about your ability to perform any of these activities or have other special needs or disability related concerns, contact CIE at cie@loyno.edu or (504) 864-7550.

FOR ADDITIONAL INFORMATION AND THE ONLINE APPLICATION

Visit: <http://studyabroad.loyno.edu/?go=LoyolaParis>

Facebook: <http://www.facebook.com/loyolaparisprogram>

Contact: Dr. Brad Petitfils, bpetit@loyno.edu, (504) 865-3080

LOYOLA
UNIVERSITY
NEW ORLEANS

Summer Program in Paris
6363 St. Charles Avenue, Box 89
New Orleans, LA 70118

SUMMER PROGRAM IN ## PARIS

May 17 - June 13, 2015

LOYOLA
UNIVERSITY
NEW ORLEANS

COURSES (Choose 2)

Americans in Paris: ENGLG355 (English Major Course)

cross-listed as:

Millennial Identity & Anxiety: The Lost Generation
ENGL N226 (Intro Common Curriculum Course)

Dr. Mary McCay

These courses will examine writers such as Hemingway, Fitzgerald, Stein, Cummings, and Lowry to understand the reasons why American writers immigrated to Paris in the 1920s and the effects their new environment had on the writing. Each course will have appropriate assignments.

Travel Writing: ENGL G415 (English Major Course)

Dr. Chris Chambers

This course offers students the opportunity to practice the craft of travel writing while experiencing Paris. This exploration will raise many questions about social identity and cultural difference, and the traveler's search for adventure and authenticity will help students develop their personal voices as writers and to add that voice to the rich legacy of writing about Paris.

French Art and Culture: FREN O294 (Advanced Common Curriculum –Creative Arts & Cultures)

Dr. Alice Kornovich

In this course, we will study great works of art, architecture, and literature that make the city the living museum that it is today. We will visit the Louvre, the Musée d'Orsay, the Centre Pompidou, and the Cathédrale Notre Dame de Paris. As the occasion arises, other forms of artistry may have a place in our studies, including the culinary arts, cinema, theater, and music.

Educating France: TEAC X205 (Advanced Common Curriculum – Social Sciences)

Dr. Brad Petitfils

This course begins with the vision of Louis XIV and follows the trajectory of French educational thought through the present day to explain how complicated social structures and hierarchies have affected the French educational system, and whether those legacies still prohibit access to education in the present day.

CLASS SCHEDULE

9 - 9:50 a.m.: English classes

10 - 10:50 a.m.: Educating France

11 - 11:50 a.m.: French Art & Culture

TBA: Travel Writing

FACULTY

Dr. Chris Chambers is Director of the Walker Percy Center for Writing & Publishing and a Professor of Creative Writing. His work has appeared in numerous publications.

Dr. Alice Kornovich teaches French at Loyola and is the director of the Modern Foreign Languages Lab. She has taught in the Paris Summer Program since its inception.

Dr. Mary McCay is Professor Emerita in the Department of English. She launched the Study Abroad in Paris program and has taught abroad in England, Ireland, France, and the Netherlands.

Dr. Brad Petitfils is Senior Director of Student Success and Institutional Research & Effectiveness, and teaches in the Department of Psychology & the Teacher Certification sequence. He is a devoted follower of French theorist Jean Baudrillard's work.

PROGRAM COSTS

The program costs $4,750, plus airfare and spending money. A nonrefundable deposit of $750 is due with the application form by Friday, January 30. Full payment is due by Friday, March 20. After February 15, there will be no program refund unless the dropout is able to find a replacement. After April 1, there is no refund.

The $4,750 covers room and board, two Loyola courses, walking tours and museum trips, medical insurance, and two day trips. Students will need money for entertainment and optional travel. In addition, all study abroad students must pay the university study abroad fee of $300. This amount will be billed separately through Student Finance.

Note that certain hotel and travel vendors are paid directly by the university in Euros rather than in dollars. If the Euro strengthens to $1.50, students may be asked to pay an additional surcharge on or before April 1, 2015. However, any student who withdraws from the program because he or she is unwilling to pay the surcharge will receive a full refund of any funds already paid to the university.

PASSPORTS AND VISAS

In order to attend the program, students must have a valid passport, an international student card, and any necessary visas. U.S. citizens do not need visas for France, but other countries' citizens may need one. Students not holding U.S. passports are responsible for checking with the French Consulate in Atlanta or Houston about the necessary visas.